

PARK OPENING PLANNED JULY FOR FIVE DAYS

100,000 People in Palo Duro is Objective of Colp

STAGING OF RODEO

Congressmen Are Invited to Visit Park During Week

Official opening of the Palo Duro State Park is set for July 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, according to information received here from D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas State Parks Board.

"We are going to try to put 100,000 people in there in five days," states Mr. Colp. "We believe we can do it. All of the Panhandle of Texas is vitally interested in it and cooperate 100 percent."

Mr. Colp has mailed invitations to all members of congress from Texas and to all of the prominent leaders, political and civic, in the state of Texas. He is urging that Panhandle people send invitations to their friends to be here on those dates.

Leonard Stroud has a contract for putting on a monster rodeo on these dates. Many other attractions will be staged so as to make this the largest feature entertainment ever attempted in the Panhandle.

Various plans are underway at the Park in the future development of the project. One is the erection of a high line connecting with the line east of Canyon. The small electric plant at the Park will not be sufficient for light and power purposes once the Park gets under way.

Fred Harvey is expected here during the coming week to investigate the concession rights of the Park. Two of his managers were here recently and recommended that the Harvey system take over the concessions of the Park. If this is done, the Palo Duro will be linked with the national advertising of Grand Canyon, and other great projects now in charge of the Fred Harvey system.

For the present at least, plans are being held up on the out-of-door amphitheatre. The original plan was for its location just east of the lodge. The National Park Service has disapproved this plan and another location is being sought. While the original plan calls for a seating capacity of 15,000, the National Park Service is now contemplating a seating capacity of 50,000. "We are not building for this year, or the next ten years, but for fifty years hence," states one of the National Park authorities.

Good Rain Falls Over County Tuesday; .53 in City

Rain started to fall in Randall county Monday night, which resulted in .53 of an inch before Tuesday night. The north part of the county received a larger amount, while sections of the south part of the county did not receive quite so much rain.

According to reports this was probably the first general rain to reach practically every section of the Panhandle in several months.

While the wheat will be somewhat benefitted by the rainfall, the greatest benefit comes to the farmers in making it possible for them to get their row crop planted.

Sunday Draws Big Crowd to Palo Duro Park, With 330 Cars

Sunday drew the largest crowd that has ever assembled at the Palo Duro State Park, according to Tommie Elliston who is in charge of the gate. 330 cars paid admission to the Park. The largest former crowd was 315 cars.

Of the crowd which came Sunday, 150 cars were from Plainview. Elliston believes that the Plainview group was brought by the fact that he showed the Palo Duro scenes at Plainview Saturday during the big celebration which was in progress.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wes Kleinschmidt and daughter have returned from California where they visited at the home of his parents.

Last Call on Utility Stock Agreement

Only a few citizens of Randall county who own Texas Utilities Company stock have signed the proposal to exchange this stock for a new issue which is being offered in lieu of the old stock.

The citizens protective committee urges that every owner of stock see Senator J. W. Reid at the First National Bank before Friday night.

All stockholders of this territory agreed to the proposal made at Lubbock last week for this exchange, and Canyon stockholders must be listed this week in order to take advantage of the offer being made.

Rabbit Drive Will Be Staged Friday South of Canyon

A rabbit drive will be staged at the Ballinger farm south of Canyon Friday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock. Frank Hicks and Shorty McCormick have been designated by J. I. Ballinger as managers of the drive and will organize the hunters under the direction of the following captains: Gene Whitman, J. E. Fowler, Fred Scott, Lee Johnson, Terry Mayben, Ed Mickie, Glen McGahey, Ray Campbell, Lee Foster, Clyde Davis, Elmer Wooten, Wes Kleinschmidt, Paul Black, Carl Laughery and Hud Prichard.

No dogs or rifles will be allowed in the hunt. Shot guns will be the only weapons allowed. The captains will organize groups, and will urge that care be taken in handling guns in order to avoid accidents.

Ammunition will be for sale for those who have not provided themselves in advance.

More land is being procured for the drive if a sufficient number of men show up for the drive.

Mr. Ballinger states that all who care to hunt are cordially invited for the drive.

This is the first rabbit drive to be staged in this section of the county, but several drives have been staged in other sections of the county.

Kiwanis Club Of Tulia Gives Pro- gram to Rotary

Twenty-three citizens of Tulia visited the Canyon Rotary Club Tuesday and put on the program. The Kiwanis Club of that city sponsored the inter-city meet.

Irby Carruth extended a welcome to the visitors to which President Walker Jones of the Kiwanis Club responded.

Gordon Jodan had charge of the program.

Musical numbers were given by Miss Relma White, one of the most promising young musicians of the Panhandle.

J. E. Swepton made a splendid talk on conditions of today. "I am not afraid of material things of today, but I am afraid of the thoughts of men," stated the speaker. "The thoughts of men lead to work of good, or to their downfall," stated the speaker, illustrating from the lives of Napoleon, and Luther. "The world war was caused by the thought of individuals to dominate," stated the speaker.

Judge Swepton plead for right thinking, for thinking of the rights of others, for the development of those things which would make men better.

Visitors from Tulia were: George Buchanan, Dr. Paul Stewart, K. E. Ramsey, O. Huxford, R. G. Clevener, J. W. Kellogg, F. P. Engelman, M. S. Lavelle, Dr. J. W. Stevens, Paul Stevens, J. E. Swepton, Mrs. J. C. Mosley, A. P. Martin, B. C. McCasland, Dr. R. F. McCasland, H. C. Briggs, C. W. McFarling, Bob McCown, G. B. Jordan, W. B. Jones, G. W. Westfield, B. G. Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Harper of Elk City, Okla., and T. A. Wiggins of Fort Worth visited relatives here the past week end.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR YEAR WITH PLAN NEW TERM

Diplomas Given Graduates of the High School

FACULTY IS NAMED

New Business Work to be Offered in Fall Opening

Closing exercises of the Canyon public schools were observed in appropriate programs Friday, Sunday and Monday nights.

Supt. Irby Carruth gave the commencement address of the seventh grade Friday night when forty-four students completed their work in the grades and will enter high school next year.

Sunday night at the Methodist church, Rev. Chas. L. Dickey of the Presbyterian Church preached the commencement sermon for the high school graduating class.

The commencement exercises were held Monday night at the high school auditorium with the address being given by Dr. Albert Barnett, former member of the board of trustees, and now a member of the Texas Technological faculty.

Diplomas were issued by President W. H. Stroud to the following: J. M. Allred, Leigh Beeson, Alton Brasuel, Laura Ferne Brian. (Continued on last page)

Unveil Fronabarger Monument at Spring- town on June Third

The monument honoring the late Rev. B. F. Fronabarger will be unveiled at Springtown on June 3rd. Governor William Murray of Oklahoma will deliver the principal address. Hundreds of former students of Rev. Fronabarger will participate in the ceremonies.

Rev. Fronabarger conducted a private college in Springtown for several years, which was attended by many of the men and women of Texas who are prominent today. A movement was started last year to honor his work by the erection of this monument, and it was hoped that he would live to participate in the exercises.

Mrs. Fronabarger will attend the unveiling exercises if possible.

Terry Rusk was taken to a hospital in Amarillo Friday and it will likely be necessary to remove his right leg during this week. He has been seriously ill for several weeks.

Wheat Fields Are Being Surveyed

Estimate of Wheat Too Large is General Local Opinion

The estimate of wheat in Randall county published in the Amarillo News on Sunday is too high, according to most of the farmers in the county. The grain dealers placed the estimate at 100,000 bushels.

An estimate was asked three weeks ago of local men on the possible yield, and this was generally placed at not more than 75,000 bushels. Since that time the wheat crop was badly cut by the continued drought. The rain of Monday comes too late to be of much value to wheat.

"The yield of this year will be largely confined to the southeast part of the county," stated a business man Monday. "The total production of the county will be the smallest Randall county has recorded in several years," stated the same man.

Dress Contest For H. D. Clubs Thurs., May 31

Cooperators and demonstrators in the Home Demonstration Clubs of Randall County will wear their entries to the Dress Contest at the Auditorium of the Education Building Thursday afternoon, May 31. The judging of dresses will begin at 1:00 p. m., with the contests of Demonstrators, Co-operators, and 4-H Club Girls taking place successively.

The demonstrators will submit their material, books, pictures, etc. to the home demonstration agent at her office May 28. The scoring of the books will take place in the morning of May 31.

The winning demonstrators of Classes No. 1 and 2 will be awarded a trip to the A. & M. Short Course to be held the latter part of July.

Miss Martha Buttrell, Home Demonstration Agent of Hutchinson County, Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel of the Canyon High School Home Economics Department, and Miss Orpa Dennis of the W. T. Home Economics Department will be the judges in the contest.

CANDIDATES INVITED TO SUNNY HILL FRIDAY NITE

The Sunny Hill Home Demonstration Club is sponsoring an ice cream supper at Sunny Hill school house Friday evening, May 25th at 8:30 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited and the candidates will be given the privilege of speaking at this time.

Money on Allotment Depends Upon Completing Work

Surveyors will start measuring wheat land under contract the last of this week. One crew will work in each of the nine communities of the county. The men appointed for this are paid only moderate wages while on the job. It is therefore very important that every farmer co-operate with these men in every way possible, especially that they arrange to be at home on inspection day for their farm. This will save mistakes and misunderstandings in regard to acreage and other matters of compliance reports. Certain information must be made available to the committee man who will be working with the surveyor in each community.

The committee is very anxious to get the job done as soon as possible. All of the balance of the 1933 and the first payment on the 1934 crop will be held up on each contract until the compliance records are in Washington.

In order to complete the compliance record on any farm, the land seeded to wheat and the contracted acreage must be measured. Before it can be measured, it must be marked with stakes.

Most farmers in Randall County are anxious to have their contract completed in order to keep their payments out of the delayed list. It is hoped that the work can be finished in Randall county without delay.

C. M. Yager Died Suddenly at Home El Paso Thursday

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Key were called to El Paso Friday morning by the sudden death of their son-in-law, C. M. Yager, who died Thursday night. Mrs. Yager will be remembered as Miss Edna Key.

Mr. Yager had been ill for two weeks with pneumonia, and was much improved Thursday. Heart failure was the immediate cause of his death. The funeral services were held at the Christian Church, of which he was a member.

Surviving are the wife and two children. They will make a visit to the parental Key home within the coming month.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thompson of Rule are here visiting relatives. Mr. Thompson taught in the Canyon schools two years ago and is now principal of the Rule high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Terry left Sunday for Temple where he will undergo medical treatment.

PROTEST MEET HELD MONDAY BY CITIZENS

What Became of Highway Relief Money For Panhandle?

CITIZENS IN DEMAND

Committee Sent to Meet National Man At Kansas City

Panhandle citizens met in Amarillo Monday night for a third protest meeting in regard to the special relief fund which was allotted this section of Texas last September by executive order of President Roosevelt.

More than 500 representative citizens raised their voice against the policy adopted by the relief offices at Washington and Austin in refusing to give the $8,900,000 relief fund to West Texas.

Resolutions were adopted calling upon the two commissions to cease playing politics, and to give the

RELIEF DECISION PROMISED TODAY

Harry L. Hopkins promised in Kansas City yesterday that the Panhandle would be given a "very substantial amount" for a work relief program.

Two conferences were held yesterday, and other meetings with Hopkins will be held today, at which time the agreement will be put in writing as to what the Panhandle may expect.

State Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist, is attending the meeting with Hopkins, in order that no further disagreements may result between the highway and relief offices.

people of the drought stricken territory the work relief to which they were entitled.

Names of Harry Hopkins, Lawrence Westbrook and Miss Dresden were brought into the talks made at the Amarillo meeting, and their actions soundly condemned. Hopkins had claimed until the last week that the special fund was available, and had been passed on to Austin; the Austin relief office had first announced that plans had been adopted for the work in the Panhandle, but last week denied that any special appropriation had been set aside for road work in this section. Then came the announcement this week from Hopkins that he was watching conditions in the Panhandle, and that if the drought warranted it, relief would be given in the same proportion of the middle west states where $50,000,000 had been set aside for drought relief purposes.

What became of the special $8,900,000 fund, was the question asked time and again at the protest meeting Monday night? In a resolution adopted Congress was urged to start an investigation to whether this money was ever sent to Texas, and if so, what became of it.

Amos G. Carter of Fort Worth, Walter B. Cline of Wichita Falls, and A. B. Bandeen of Stamford were appointed by Judge J. N. Hamlin, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to carry the protest to President Roosevelt. This committee was to meet Harry L. Hopkins in Kansas City yesterday for the purpose of discussing the situation in the Panhandle.

Judge Hamlin spoke at the meeting in Amarillo Monday, stating that the resources of his organization were behind the demand of the Panhandle to secure the necessary relief money.

Girls' Glee Club Gave Program at Hall Tuesday Nite

The Girls' Glee Club of W. T. gave a program at Cousins Hall Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock under the direction of Miss Pauline Brigham. Two groups of songs were sung by the club, while the sextette from the glee club presented two groups.

Miss Frances Usery assisted on the program with one group of piano solos, and Mrs. Alta Potts Turk of Amarillo gave a group of vocal solos.

Ellen Lois Cleav- inger Died Monday at Temple Hospital

Ellen Lois Cleavinger died Monday at a Temple hospital on her sixteenth birthday. She was taken there recently for medical treatment after an illness extending through most of this year. The body was returned to Canyon Tuesday evening and the funeral will be held at the Presbyterian Church this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Chas. L. Dickey.

The deceased was a member of the W. T. training school senior class. She has been a very prominent student, taking an active part in all affairs of the school. She was president of the Student Council. The senior class will attend the funeral service in a body.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cleavinger, five brothers and one sister, J. G. Cleavinger of Alhambra, Calif., E. H. Cleavinger of Norwalk, Calif., Norman F. Cleavinger of Spring Lake, Elmer Cleavinger of White Deer, M. E. Cleavinger, Jr., of Canyon, and Mrs. W. E. Miller of Canyon.

Bridges to Park Completed, Road Opening June 10

All concrete work on the bridges of Goodnight Trail is complete and ready for the opening of the road on June 10th.

Resident Engineer E. H. Gohmert is hoping to get the approaches of both bridges filled before he leaves next week for his new location at Yorktown, but so far has been unable to secure labor from either the relief office or the highway department to do this work. It will take about a week to do the filling on both bridges.

The bridge contractor has another week's work on the Tierra Blanca bridge in completing the approaches.

Finishing the caliche on the Goodnight Trail and the topping depends very largely upon the relief program which may be worked out for aid in the Panhandle.

Two Murals Being Placed in Museum Panhandle Artists

Two mural paintings by Harold Bugbee of Clarendon and Ben Carlton Mead of Amarillo are being placed in the Museum building. These artists were employed under CWA for this work.

Bugbee's mural has been in the art room for several weeks, and Mead's mural was brought from Amarillo Thursday afternoon. These murals are the first of eight which are planned in decorating the Museum building, depicting the history of this section.

Harry Hopkins: "We are watching the Panhandle closely. We are ready and intend to take care of the drought areas, and if the Panhandle needs relief, we will provide it." Another insult hurled in this direction. For the past eight months, Hopkins has been promising aid for the Panhandle, and yet it has never come. Not as much relief work has been done in the drought section of Texas as has been undertaken in the prosperous sections of Texas. Time after time, Hopkins has said that the money was available and that work was ready to start. The Relief Commission at Austin has refused to turn a hand to assist in the matter. After announcing that the work program was all ready, one of the engineers coolly stated to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce last week that there never had been a special appropriation for the drought stricken territory.

Readers of The News will miss the page of The Eagles Tale this week, and for that reason regret that the school term came to a close. Without doubt this section of The News was superior this year to those of the past years. In other years, The Eagles Tale has been excellent reading matter for the patrons of the school. The secret of this year's success is in the fact that more high school students were interested in the page than ever before; all were striving to make each issue interesting; keener competition existed in getting a place on the staff, and in holding that place. Competition was keen for the honor of writing an article for the page. Perhaps fifty percent more news was printed by this year's staff than any previous year. The people of Randall county greatly appreciate the work of this year's staff.

Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas penitentiary system, dubs the parole system in Texas as a farce. Criminals are being let out on parole under the most flimsy excuses. They are not reformed, but go right back into the life of crime, and cost the state additional thousands of dollars. Indignant citizens of Texas should call upon the legislature and the next governor to abolish the present system of pardons and paroles, and turn this function over to the penitentiary board, or someone who knows something about handling criminals. Lee Simmons is one of the most successful managers the penitentiary has ever had. He is doing much not only for the taxpayers, but also the men confined in the system. He would do more if given a freer hand in his operations.

Raymond Hamilton is happy. He has only 99 years added to the 263 years of sentences already accumulated for the penitentiary. It all comes about that a jury could not be secured in Denton county which was willing to assess the death penalty. What does 362 years in the penitentiary mean to a man like Hamilton? A few years more, or less means nothing to Hamilton, but a lot more than the electric chair. It means that a desperate man like Hamilton will take every opportunity to escape the penitentiary and that he will be leaving a trail of blood if the opportunity is afforded. Two efforts in the past three weeks failed to seat Hamilton in the hot chair. The jury system of Texas is nothing to brag about.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce adopted resolutions demanding that the educational institutions of this section remain as they now are. There was no opposition expressed to the resolutions. President James D. Hamlin of Farwell is a good friend of education, and will use the influence of the organization to repeal all efforts that might be made in the coming session of the legislature to cripple the educational institutions. Judge Hamlin was the representative of Canyon and the West Texas State Teachers College last year when the effort was made to reduce it in rank. There are few men in Texas who understand better the needs of the colleges than does Judge Hamlin.

A well informed political observer from Central Texas made the statement Thursday that Senator Clint Small was rapidly gaining strength in Central and East Texas; that if the Panhandle wanted to elect a Governor, this was its opportunity. The Panhandle is responding that the voters are going to support Clint Small because he is the most capable man in the race. Sectional pride would dictate that our vote be cast for Senator Small, but in the final analysis of the men in the race, this section will support Clint Small because he is the best man in the race.

Jim Ferguson speaks enthusiastically of the governor's race. He is backing C. C. McDonald, and says that McDonald is sure of a place in the second primary. He predicts that either Small or Hunter will go into the second primary with McDonald. He discards Allied by showing how impossible it will be for him to make the second primary. The prediction of Jim Ferguson should set to work the friends of Senator Small and insure him a secure place in the second primary. Jim Ferguson is a keen political student who usually knows which way the wind is blowing.

A resolution by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce criticizing the relief work in Texas came at an opportune time. The present relief set-up in Texas is to furnish as many jobs as possible to office employees and traveling auditors, forgetting those who need relief. That is a bad situation, and should be corrected. The state relief administrator has completely ignored the Panhandle and the relief program set up for this section by President Roosevelt.

More power to California in dealing with kidnapers. Within a few hours after capture three of them were in the penitentiary to serve a life sentence. One of the kidnapers remarked that his racket was a "lousy business." That is what all criminals think while on their way to the penitentiary.

The first compilation of the national poll of President Roosevelt shows that the people are approving his policy by a vote of two to one. The poll is expected to bring out the fact that the people are willing to follow the President, even though they know not the meaning of all of the various experiments which he is undertaking.

Pity the poor musicians. 140,000 professional musicians were thrown out of jobs with the coming of the talkies. All new inventions work a decided hardship upon certain classes of people. In this instance, the musicians were hard hit just at a time when no other employment was open to them.

ANTI-HANDBILL LAWS

An article in the current issue of the magazine of the Kansas League of Municipalities discusses handbill troubles of cities. The writer, Albert B. Martin, attorney for the league, comparing the effectiveness and satisfactory working of various types of city ordinances directed against the handbill nuisance, asserts that the most effective ordinance is one that makes a blanket prohibition of distributing any sheets of paper which will be thrown away, to clutter up streets and create fire hazards.

Various types of anti-handbill ordinances are in use by American cities. Denver has an ordinance prohibiting the distribution of handbills or circulars which will probably be thrown away. Philadelphia forbids the throwing of advertisements and circulars onto private premises unless the matter is in an envelope. Omaha forbids distribution of dodgers, handbills or circulars. Newark prohibits the unlicensed distribution or circulation of posters and handbills. Huntington Park, California, forbids handbill distribution in automobiles, porches or mail boxes, exclusive of newspapers. A recent federal court decision upheld an ordinance of South San Francisco which makes it unlawful for persons or firms, other than newspapers, to distribute handbills, declaring the ordinance was not discriminating against the advertising paper of the merchant who brought the action against the city.—Star Telegram.

The last meeting or program for the year was held Saturday night. The school children gave a very interesting closing day program under the direction of their teacher, Miss Esther Root. There was a larger crowd at the program than any for several months. Many people attended from Canyon.

Several women from this community attended the short course in Canyon Friday.

Margaret Fulton visited school Friday.

Mrs. John Mody visited Mrs. C. C. Stewart Thursday.

Mrs. Eula Watson was in Amarillo Saturday.

Mrs. C. C. Stewart and Ina visited Mrs. H. B. Hales Wednesday afternoon.

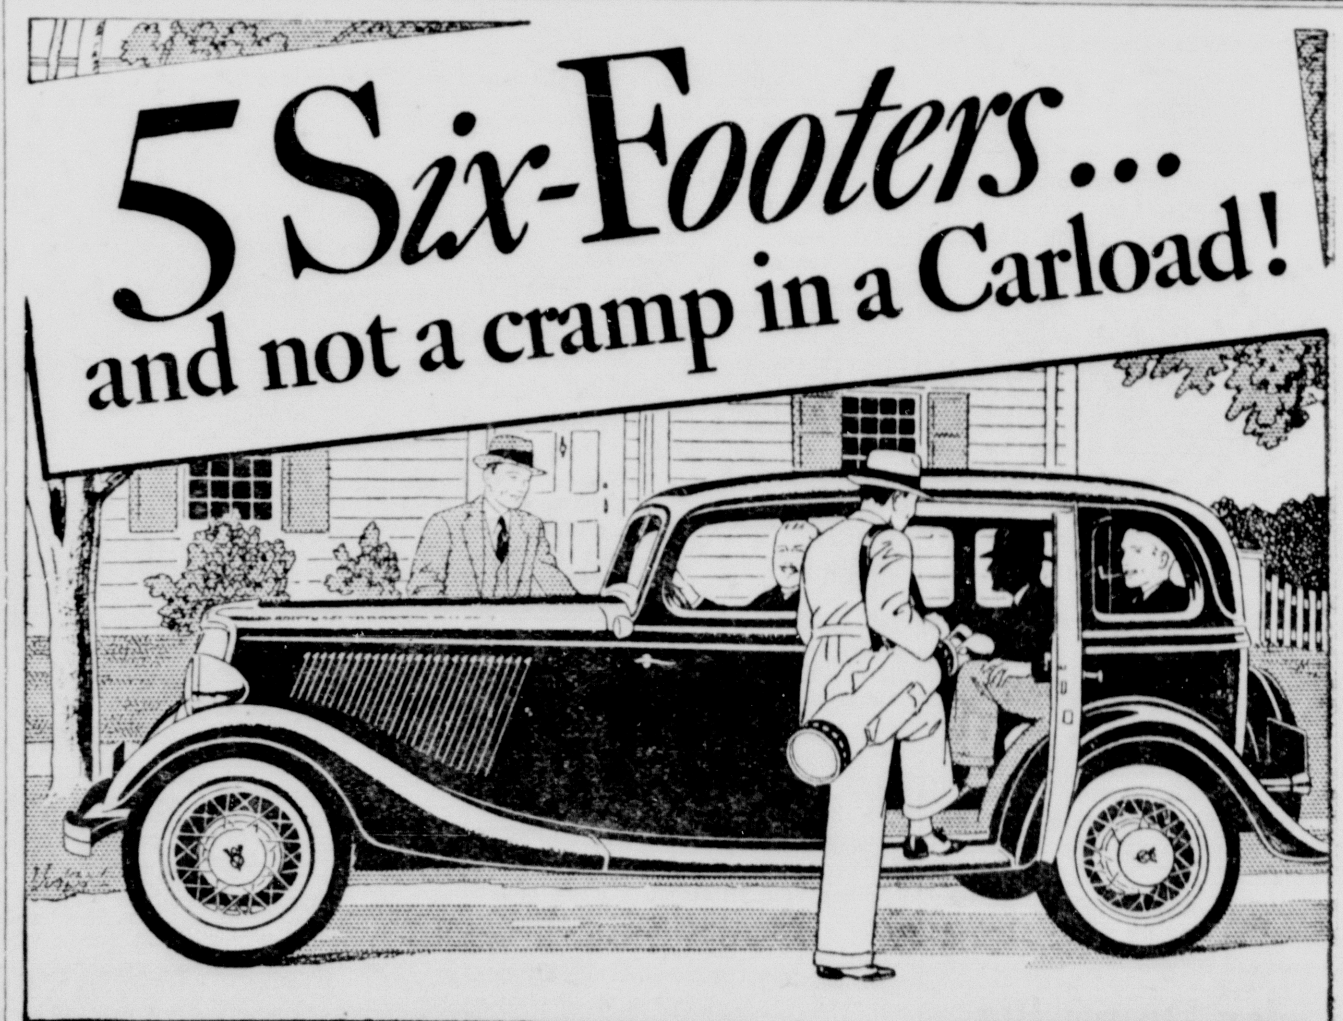

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Elliott from near Dumas visited Mrs. M. E. Elliott several days last week.

It would never do to put twelve women on a jury. The law provides for only one verdict.

FIVE big men can relax in utter comfort on the deep cushions of the Ford V-8. Wide seats keep elbows out of ribs. Ample leg room keeps legs from being cramped.

Why? Because Ford measures roominess in terms of usable body room. Not in terms of the distance between bumpers, which means nothing when you come to analyze it.

The Ford V-8's very engine construction gives you more body room, as the diagram explains. Cylinders are "doubled-up" saving space, not strung along in a line to waste it.

'Man-Eating Dragons' in U. S.

Three giant lizards which seem to meet all specifications of the legendary dragon, except for size and their inability to snort fire, have been brought to this country from the Dutch East Indies by Edward H. Harkness and Capt. L. P. K. Griswold, amateur zoologists. Two of the 9-foot monsters, said by their captors to be vicious man-eaters, are shown above in their cage at the Bronx zoo.

The West Expects Great Things of Coulee, Fort Peck, and Boulder Dams

THREE mighty American rivers which, until now, have raged unchecked, are being put to the yoke. In harness, they are expected to bring great benefits to the west.

Boulder dam, mightiest of these projects, is already more than half completed. Five thousand men working with might and main, have already erected almost 400 feet of the 727-foot barrier which will hold in check the treacherous Colorado river. They are almost a year ahead of schedule.

People of the southwest eagerly await the completion of Boulder dam. For them it means cheap power, water to irrigate their lands and quench their thirst, the ability to control and prevent floods of the future, and the chance to boast of having one of history's greatest engineering projects right in their own backyard.

FOR ages millions of potential horsepower have floated down the bosom of the mighty Columbia river, and out into the Pacific. But no longer will the waters of the historic river spend their time tumbling and playing; there's work to be done.

At strategic intervals on its rocky, curving course through Washington and Oregon, giant dams are being projected or built which will change the Columbia from a happy-go-lucky vagabond into an obedient, efficient servant of the people in the Pacific northwest.

One private dam, at Rock Island, near Wenatchee, Wash., has already been completed. The government has approved erection of a dam—the Bonneville—42 miles east of Portland, Ore., for hydroelectric and navigation purposes. Upon success of this dam, and that of the Grand Coulee, depends Uncle Sam's future policy with respect to Columbia river development.

The Grand Coulee—to be America's largest power project—is rising between Spokane and Wenatchee, Wash. Besides harnessing the turbulent Columbia waters in their oceanward dash from the Canadian Rockies to produce upwards of 2,000,000 horsepower, the Grand Coulee will make it possible to irrigate 2,000,000 acres of immensely fertile, but arid, desert land. A dam 430 feet high and 4290 feet long will create a reservoir that will extend all the way to the Canadian border 151 miles upstream.

In addition, the water backed up by the dam will pour into a huge natural depression nearby, to form another reservoir, 26 miles long.

SOMETIME in the future, a body of water that will rank with any of the Great Lakes will appear on the map.

Up in northeastern Montana, work has begun on the $72,000,000 Ft. Peck dam, which will create a reservoir 175 miles long and 15 miles wide. This two-mile earth-filled dam will, when it is completed five years from now, perform two distinct public services. Water will be stored behind it in flood seasons, and released in dry periods, thus keeping the old Missouri from going on its periodic rampages. And it will permit nine-foot navigation all the way from the Gulf of Mexico to Yankton, S. D.

Besides these outstanding advantages, the Ft. Peck dam will provide water for irrigation purposes, electric power, and 6000 jobs for people in its section of the country.

Several Hundred Women Attended Home Ec Meeting

Approximately five hundred farm women gathered on the campus of the College Friday to participate in the annual home demonstration short course which was held under the joint direction of the home economics department of the college and the home demonstration extension division of Texas A. & M.

A reception for the visitors was held at 9:30 Friday morning in the home economics dining hall with Miss Marion Normington, head of the home economics department in charge.

Art In Dress

Dr. J. A. Hill welcomed the visitors at the general assembly in the auditorium of the administration building. Miss Ruby Mashburn of College Station was in charge of the meeting and Mrs. J. M. Whitfield of Lamb County led the community singing.

Miss Miltia Hill of the art department pointed out pertinent facts to be considered in home dressmaking in her talk, "Art in Relation to Dress." A style show was given by home economics girls under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Cox. Music was furnished by the Men's Chorus under the direction of Professor W. R. Clark.

Visit Museum

A visit was made to Pioneer Hall after the luncheon served in the College cafeteria.

"The Farm Woman's Place in the New Deal" was the theme of the afternoon meeting which began at 2 o'clock in Education building auditorium with Miss Myrtle Murray of College Station in charge. Entertainment features were given by the Girls' Sextette under the direction of Miss Pauline Brigham.

Mrs. E. H. Grimes of Carson County gave a discussion of "The Expansion Program," as developed in her home county.

Federal canning plants were discussed by Mrs. Bob Johnson of Potter County, and Mrs. Jack Dodson of Ochiltree County spoke of the values of state community canning centers.

The aid of community canning by circulating equipment was the subject of a short talk by Mrs. Clem Gilland of Castro County. Mrs. Paul Johnson and Mrs. M. E. Cure of Hale County gave a number of recipes for preparing tasty meat dishes.

Wardrobe planning was discussed by Mrs. R. L. Thomas, and the rural housing survey by Miss Sadie Lee Oliver, both of Foard County.

Mrs. Bob Johnson gave an interesting talk on marketing.

The short course will be held earlier next spring, announced Miss Normington, and will not be held

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

They May Not Be Able to Come Back in the Leather-Pushing Game, but They Do—and With a Bang—on the Diamond

BY PHILIP MARTIN

BASEBALL is one game where they do come back. Unlike boxing, where a comeback is something unheard of, boys who were thought through in 1933 are climbing back up the ladder of fame.

Notable among these gents are Joe Vosmik of the Cleveland Indians; Hack Wilson and Len Koenecke of the Dodgers; and Henry "Zeke" Bonura of the Chicago White Sox.

THE case of Koenecke and Bonura is different from that of Wilson and Vosmik. Hack and Joe started off 1934 with a blast of base hits that belied the predictions made last year that they were through on the big time. But Len and "Zeke" were labeled through even before they made the majors.

Koenecke was bought from Indianapolis in 1931 by John McGraw, then manager of the Giants. McGraw paid $75,000 for him, then, after a few brief glimpses of the kid, tagged him a "lemon" and shipped him off to Jersey City and Buffalo.

During last year's trade that sent Sam Leslie to the Dodgers for Lefty O'Doul and Lefty Clark, Koenecke was sent along to Brooklyn.

Casey Stengel is happy as a result. Koenecke is making Casey's outfield one of the best in the National loop, hitting for a healthy average and freezing onto every ball within a mile of him.

Bonura's case is similar. The Cleveland Indians had strings on him for several years. He was optioned to New Orleans, Toledo, and Dallas; and last year the Cleveland club severed all connections with the large first sacker.

The Sox grabbed him—and with him added a punch at the bat that has put Zeke up among the home run leaders, and shunted the mighty Al Simmons into the background.

RUGBY, the great old British game, is catching on in the United States.

Already it has established a place for itself among our college sports. In fact, it has become so popular in the last decade that Cambridge University sent a team over to play against Yale, Harvard, and other big schools in the east; and to make a tour of the country.

on Friday as the date interferes with market day in several communities. A definite date has not been decided upon as yet.

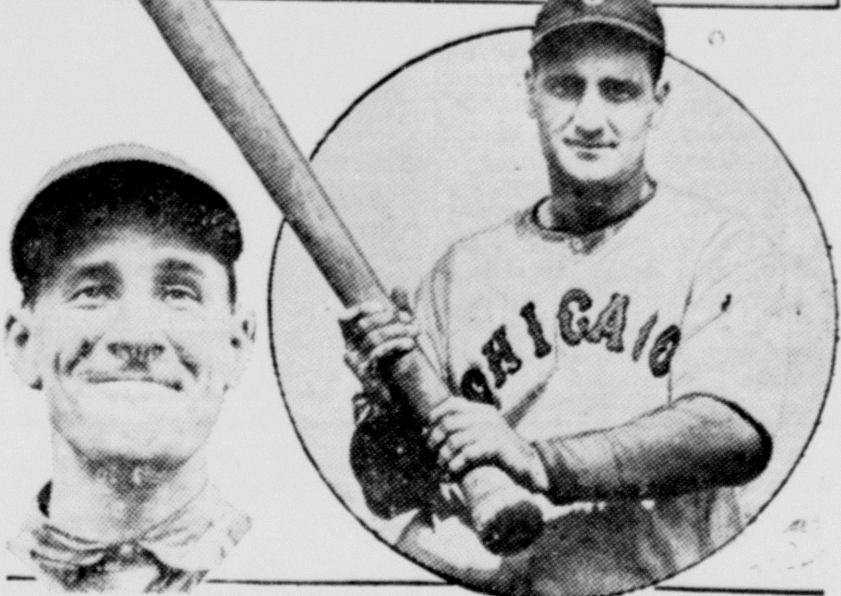

An ambitious young man heard of the death of the junior partner of a big firm. Being full of self-confidence he hurried to the offices of the firm, whose senior partner was a friend of his father.

"How about taking your partner's place?" he asked.

"It's all right with me," said the senior partner, "if you can fix things with the undertaker."

Mail order houses sell everything except coffins—and there'd probably be a few buyers for those if they were listed in the catalogues.

Most of the young farmers nowadays are getting away from the idea that the best college of agriculture is the town curbstone.

No, the scene above is not from a jolly well fought affair between Cambridge and Eton. It was snapped at a rugby game between our own Harvard and Yale. Below, right, is Henry "Zeke" Bonura with his "big stick," with which he has carved himself a comeback. Leonard Koenecke, inset, is also regaining fame. And from his grin, wouldn't you know it?

Rugby is considered a conditioning sport for football on the Pacific coast, and regular leagues of big college teams have been in operation there for some time, drawing crowds that are not so large, but highly enthusiastic.

It has been said that these rugby leagues are one reason why the west coast produces such great football machines in the fall.

THIS year's Wightman Cup team has been officially named. It is to be captained by Helen Jacobs, and will be made up of four Californians—Miss Jacobs, Alice Marble, Caroline Babcock, and Josephine Cruickshank—and one easterner, Sarah Palfrey, of Brookline, Mass.

It is hard to see a victory for England against this team, made up of five of the first six ranking women tennis players in this country. It is practically the same squad that turned back the invasion of the British at Forest Hills last year.

Comparing it with England's squad, there seems to be little risk in predicting a win for Uncle Sam's gals.

Rewards are offered for finding most things—except those who find fat.

Treasury Gets New Vault

Uncle Sam's money is safer than ever, now that the Treasury Department has bought a new safety vault. William A. Julian, treasurer of the United States, is shown looking it over.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Penick, Lorain and Lucius, and Mrs. C. M. Ford visited L. B. Penick of Quanah, the past week end.

L. F. Sheffy attended the pioneers reunion at Plainview Saturday.

Miss Freda Oberst was re-elected to a position as teacher in the Spring Lake school for next year.

The only universal rule for wooing sleep seems to be Mark Twain's. "If you cannot sleep, try lying on the edge of the bed—then you may drop off."

"So you desire to become my son-in-law?"

"No, I don't. But if I marry your daughter, I don't see how I can get out of it."

Talkative Lady: "A big man like you might be better occupied than in cruelly catching little fish."

Angler: "Perhaps you're right. But if this fish had kept his mouth shut, he wouldn't be here."

The bandit who held up an Indiana bank while the directors were in session, probably had an idea that a dividend was going to be declared.

One of the few happy moments Samuel Insull, former utilities magnate, has had since his enforced return to America, came when Samuel II brought little Samuel III to see his grandfather. EXIT THE CHISELER

Many of the policies of the National Recovery Administration program aim at remedying cut-throat competition, through broad Code regulations which now govern the entire printing and publishing industry.

Recovery under the NRA calls for individual sacrifice in a co-operative endeavor to restore business. It was designed to establish fair competition and increase purchasing power.

And with the advent of the new competition there passes from the picture the unscrupulous person, lately referred to as the Chiseler.

Too many of our merchants have done business with and been gipped by this parasite field. But the strict enforcement of wage regulations, hours of labor, and of quality specifications will put an end to his unfair practices. Public insistence upon high trade ethics and high standards of quality will also aid in serving an honest efficient business structure.

It is reasonable to expect more intelligent and skillful service from The News, whose personnel is devoting their entire lives to the local field of newspaper publishing and commercial printing, than from one who does not understand your business problems. The News can serve your best interests.

Lou Meyer Hopes to Be the First Driver Ever to Win the 500-Mile Indianapolis Memorial Day Race Three Times

One hundred thousand fans ignoring the blazing sun and choking dust, while sweaty, begrimed drivers dash by hour after hour, risking their lives for $50,000 or so in prize money—that's the picture at the Indianapolis Speedway on Memorial Day. Lou Meyer, inset, hopes to hang up his third win.

BY PHILIP MARTIN

ON May 30, some 30 speed-mad race drivers will whirl around the 2½-mile brick speedway at Indianapolis in quest of fame and a fortune exceeding $50,000.

That day the annual 500-mile auto race will draw its crowd of 100,000 thrill-seeking customers to the Hoosier city to view a contest that bids fair to usher in a new course record.

Lou Meyer whizzed around the saucer at 104.162 miles an hour in 1933, setting up a new mark. Improvements in racing machines since his triumph are bound to make for more speed in this year's assault on time—and there's one other factor that points to a new record.

Lou will be out to do something never before achieved by a race driver—win the Indianapolis classic three times.

MEYER'S 1933 victory was his second win, his first occurring in 1928. The only other driver ever to score a double was Tommy Milton.

Meyer will be sure to do his damndest to put himself at the top of the Indianapolis heap. But pounding right along on his heels will be three others who have won one victory and are chasing their second. They are Billy Arnold, L. L. Corum, and Lou Schneider.

This four-sided rivalry is bound to make the boys bear down on the gas. And with such other sterling drivers as Wilbur Shaw, Deacon Litz, Russell Snowberger, Cliff Bergere, Tony Gulatto, Bill Cummings, Ira Hall, and the rest answering the challenges of these four, the pace should be the fastest the pop-eyed spectators have ever seen.

PERHAPS Philadelphia Athletic fans will forget all about those deals that deprived the team of Grove, Walberg, Earnshaw, and Bishop. The reason is that two young fellows are playing their hearts out for old Connie Mack.

One of these kids is Joe Casarella, a rookie hurler who is making Mack's judgment look pretty good. Mack brought the kid up from Jersey City for a song and a dance and he gives every indication of becoming a sensation. He's won his first three starts, and you can bet that Connie will give him enough work to keep the boy's confidence at its peak.

The other fellow is Rabbit Warstler. The little shortstop, declared woefully weak with the stick at Boston last year, came to Mack as part of that deal with the Sox.

He has been hitting at a surprising clip for one who smote the apple for only .217 in 1933, and the most important factor about his hits is that they have been timely.

Always a classy fielder, Warstler will make Mack a valuable player if he can keep getting those base blows.

Why cry for Mack?

Seniors '34 Present Trophy Case to College

The trophy case recently presented to the college by the Senior Class of 1934, was made by Mr. J. A. Gillis, of the Manual Training Department. The case, which is in the main hall, across from President Hill's office, has been attracting much admiring comment.

Mr. Gillis designed all of the case except the carving, which was done by Miss Isabel Robinson, of the Art Department. The case is made in an old Tuscan-Roman design, and is of tanquile, dark red, solid mahogany. The front of the case is plate glass, and is inlaid in solid ebony.

A large number of the cases on the first floor of the Museum were also made by Mr. Gillis, Mr. T. H. Macdonald, former head of the Manual Training Department of Canyon High School, made several, and the rest were made by Mr. R. A. Terrill and Mr. Gillis. All of the cases are of excellent workmanship, and are a credit to the Museum.

HOLDUP AT GAS STATION

Victims Lured by Bargain Price

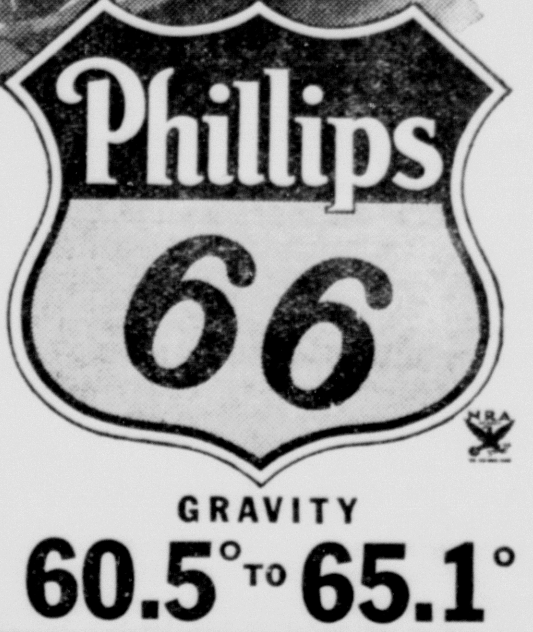

This holdup is the unseen drama which may take place every time a motorist buys gas at a cut-price pump.

Some day, of course, he will know better! Like millions of experienced drivers, he will learn the money-saving benefits of Phillips 66... the bonest high test gasoline which sells at the price of regular.

You get more power and more miles. Better miles, too. Smoother, swifter, quieter. And your engine is so responsive and flexible that there is added pleasure in motoring.

But five gallons tell more than five thousand words. Hence we make this worth while suggestion: Before you buy your next tankful of gas at just any station which you happen to pass, look for the Orange and Black 66 shield. That's the place to Phill-up with Phillips.

Mody Boatright Publishes Book on Cowboy Stories

Mody C. Boatright, of the Class of '22, now a member of the English faculty of the University of Texas, has just published a book of cowboy lore, "Tall Tales from Texas Cow Camps." The book is being published by the Southwest Press of Dallas, Texas.

"Mr. Boatright has collected some of the most entertaining stories that have kept going the rounds of the cattle camps and ranch houses for years—but which have been as shy as a herd of mustangs about finding their way into civilized confines of a book," announce the publishers.

"Here you will learn of feats of speed, vagaries of wind and weather, of marvelous beasts and birds which will leave you wondering whether to be more amazed at the stories themselves, or the imaginations of the men who could invent them. You will also meet the surprising character, Pecos Bill, upon whose broad shoulders cowboys have laid much fabulous adventure."

Students of W. T. Come Within Radius Seven Hundred Miles

To most people the students of W. T. are just those that are on the campus, but the college has half as many students at points anywhere from fifteen to 700 miles from Canyon as are in town. These are 525 men and women who are enrolled for work by correspondence or in extension classes.

Study While they Teach

One hundred fourteen men and 411 women have taken advantage of the opportunity offered by the college to do some systematic study while teaching or while taking forced leaves from their resident work. The work they have done meets the standard of the Southern Association and of the Texas Association of colleges and will be accepted at face value at practically every college of the land.

Classes off the campus have been conducted this year by Professor J. L. Duflet at Pampa, Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, Professors L. F. Shetty and S. H. Condon and Dr. R. P. Jarrett at Amarillo. Extension classes are not conducted during the summer months.

Correspondence Courses

Students may enroll for correspondence courses in the summer as well as during the long session. A course may be completed as rapidly as the student's time will permit, except that it must not be finished under a month's time. Most students use from three to four months for a course. The records of the office show that students who do not get their work well under way during the first three months of their enrollments usually fail to complete their courses. A comparison of statistics of the West Texas State Teachers College and other colleges shows that the percentage of completions is higher here than in most places. This is probably due to the close personal attention which the faculty members give to this type of work. Many students have reported that they feel better acquainted with the teachers under whom they have had correspondence courses than with those in whose classes they have been. It is not uncommon for papers to be returned to the students out in the field with the margins well filled with suggestions and comments from the instructors.

Make Arrangements Now

According to Mrs. T. V. Reeves, who directs the off-campus study, students who will not be in college this summer can make their arrangements to study during the summer before they leave for home if they wish to do so.

Books for correspondence courses may be purchased at the book store and students who take them home with them can save postage. Mr. Lee Johnson, manager of the book store says that either new or second hand books can be had for most courses. Another saving is effected for students by allowing them to sell back to the bookstore the books they use in correspondence courses. This is allowed unless the books are discontinued for campus classes.

It is expected that the 1934-35 extension and correspondence enrollment will exceed that of any year since these types of work were begun, the former in 1928 and the latter in 1923.
